Thank you for the opportunity to judge the best overall newspaper. In these troubling times, the value of community newspapers has never been more important in keeping readers and communities informed as information changes on a continual basis. These four newspapers will do that job and be light houses to future journalists. The Steinbach Carillon was the best overall newspaper. With its correspondents writing weekly about the events and happening through south eastern Manitoba, the paper showed a strong commitment to not only what was happening in Steinbach but communities it serves.

Both the Stonewall Teulon Tribune and the Selkirk Record had very strong sport sections and reading from cover to cover, the presentation was outstanding and the community features kept me reading. Both are credits to their community.

Congratulations to the newspaper receiving the award. The winners of all four categories are to be commended for producing outstanding newspapers.
